Danielle Walburn, a student at the Presentation of Mary Academy, won second place at the Massachusetts 4H state level competition for visual presentations. It was held at the John Glenn Middle School in Bedford, Mass., on March 28. In order to advance to the state level, a 4H member must win at the county level. Danielle accomplished this on March 14. Her topic was "The Nubian Goat" and she completed a 4:25 oral educational presentation in front of three judges and a room full of people. There were six other presenters of different ages in her category from all across the state of Massachusetts. Danielle's mother, Aleisha Walburn said: "I am so proud of Danielle and also thankful to PMA for providing her the opportunities to improve her public speaking skills and gain confidence."
